FPC Speeds Action On U.P. Gas Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission moved Friday to speed a decision in a case involving competing applications for transportation of Canadian natural gas from Alberta to eastern Canada through the northern states.

The case had had its ups and downs, with the Canadian government having refused to grant approval to the Canadian projects upon which the applications in the case were based. Now, the Power Commission is under pressure because the Canadian government has already directed the Canadian firm which is involved to build additional facilities in Canada if it believes the transportation service through the United States cannot be authorized in time to install facilities for the 1967-68 heating season.

Moving to speed action, the commission directed admission of the usual initial or recommended decision by the hearing examiner and scheduled an argument to be heard April 21.

In the meantime, Examiner William C. Levy is to reopen the hearing in the complex case to take additional evidence on developments since the record was closed before the Canadian government refused approval of the Canadian projects and then more than a month later reversed itself.

Involved are two conflicting proposals which involve five pipeline companies. The proposed projects would cost nearly a half billion dollars.

Boys' Deaths Are Called 'Executions'

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff Herbert T. Brown says the killing of two teen-age cousins in a public park was a deliberately planned execution.

The victims, Wayne Mullenore and his cousin, Ronald Johnson, both 14, were found Thursday night in an isolated pavilion in Leving Park on Rockford's southwest side. Each had been shot twice.

Brown, sheriff of Winnebago County, said evidence uncovered thus far indicates the cousins were driven to the park, forced to kneel facing a concrete wall in a pavilion and each was shot in the back of the head.

The killer, Brown said, then shot each of the youths in the stomach after they had fallen.

The boys were found by sheriff's deputies who responded to a telephone call from an unidentified person — at first believed a woman — who reported two men had been murdered in the park.

"It was a methodical and deliberate act," Brown said. "It may have been the work of a juvenile. It appears to have been a premeditated execution done with ceremony."

The victims were described by their families and authorities as clean-cut, church-going youngsters who never had been in trouble.

Investigators were seeking the anonymous telephone caller, who they speculated may have witnessed the double killing or may have been a participant.

Deputy Sheriff William Wertman, who took the call Thursday night, said at first the caller was a woman. Friday Wertman said the caller could have been "an excited young man."

Wertman said that when he attempted to get the caller's name, the telephone said "to hell with them. Just let them lay there and die."

Authorities questioned pupils at Wilson Junior High School, which both victims attended.

The fathers of the two youths, Joseph Mullenore and Victor Johnson, are employed in Rockford factories.

The plane was the 477th reported lost over the north.

The loss came as bad weather held American pilots to 79 strikes over the north, but Air Force bombers sank a 200-foot motorized barge described as a "military vessel" and eight other barges in one of the heaviest blows at enemy shipping of the war.

The U.S. Command also reported that eight American infantrymen were wounded today when an artillery shell prematurely detonated only 30 yards from the cannon's muzzle.

The accident occurred 43 miles southwest of Kontum.

American artillery mistakenly shelled civilian areas in two separate instances this week, killing six Vietnamese civilians and wounding 26, the military disclosed.

The announcement came on the heels of reports that as yet an unidentified pair of jet bombers mistakenly bombed a refugee-clogged pro-government village Thursday. A Vietnamese spokesman said 95 civilians were killed and 200 wounded.

The U.S. Command said revised figures showed 83 killed and 175 wounded.

Nursing Homes And State End Tiff On Fees

LANSING (AP) — An angry dispute between the state and nursing homes over Medicaid rate-setting, which left some elderly patients afraid they might be thrown out, apparently ended Friday.

The state decided it did not need some of the income reports which nursing homes did not want to furnish, and removed a deadline for cost reports.

"Please tell people we're still accepting Medicaid patients," one nursing home operator remarked after a 90-minute meeting involving about 1,000 nursing home personnel and the chiefs of the Social Welfare Department.

"I came to show I don't have horns," said R. Bernard Houston, state social welfare director.

He said to set rates for reimbursing homes that care for the some 14,000 Medicaid patients, the department still needs cost reports from each home. Homes wishing to keep them confidential may submit them through the Michigan Nursing Home Association, he said.

The department earlier set a March 15 deadline, and said homes which did not report on costs and income by then would be paid at the minimum rate, $8.50 a day, less than most are receiving now.

The association contended the figures were none of the department's business. Joseph Mash, association president, said Tuesday that more than 200 of the state's 441 nursing homes had served notice they would refuse to accept these patients or else charge more than the $8.50.

Until rates are set, Houston said, homes would be reimbursed at December, 1966, rates, which vary from $7.50 to more than $14 a day across the state.

Under Michigan's Medicaid program, the state and federal governments split the cost of nursing home and hospital care, medical services and prescribed drugs for welfare recipients and certain other needy persons.

Houston and Lloyd Johnson, past president of the association, said they would like to see a federal court suit in New York seeking to enjoin Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and possibly the Board of Elections, from declaring Powell's seat in the 18th Congressional District of Harlem vacant.

At a news conference in Bimini Friday, Powell told reporters he would be a candidate in the event an election is called to fill his vacant seat.

tion said Medicaid patients occupy about 14,000 of the state's 23,000 nursing home beds, about 60 per cent.

The meeting with social welfare officials and legislators followed a two-hour meeting at which the association approved a six-point program to attack the state's Medicaid problems.

Johnson said, "It is common knowledge that hundreds of nursing homes have been certified (eligible for Medicare and Medicaid) in other states that do not begin to meet the level of care and physical plant standards in a great many Michigan nursing homes."

The other points: —Immediate adoption of the association's reimbursement formula, which would provide between $10 and $16 a day.

—Examination by the Legislature of whatever formula is decided upon to see whether the state can support the formula and, if not, a change in the Medicaid law or in appropriations.

—A simplified billing form to lower the homes' administrative costs in doing Medicaid paperwork.

—Postponement of consideration of any new regulations for nursing homes.

—A 30-day adjustment period after the formula is decided upon.

Hanoi Mission Gives Thant Peace Formula

AN ELECTRIC-POWERED Renault failed in attempt to prove it could make the trip from Detroit to Cadillac Thursday. It wasn't lack of electricity but a motor mishap that halted it on I-75 south of Flint. A trip from Detroit to Washington is planned to start Sunday, says Donald Swanson of Detroit, the owner. ## Michigan Electric Car To Try Washington Run FERDALE (AP) — Two Ferndale businessmen say they are set to make a 335-mile trip from Detroit to Washington in a horseless carriage that also is noiseless, gasless and exhaustless.

They are Robert Aronson, president of Electric Fuel Propulsion, and Donald Swanson, vice president. Swanson also is president of a foreign car agency in Ferndale.

Swanson said plans call for a Sunday morning departure via turnpike for the nation's capital city in a 1967 Renault R-10 model converted to electric power operation.

Along the way, he said, stops have been scheduled at utility company facilities for recharging.

They also plan to be on hand when a congressional hearing opens March 14 in Washington on proposed legislative research and development of electric cars, regarded as a partial solution to the nation's air pollution problem.

120 Mile Range Swanson said the Washington-bound vehicle actually is the second prototype produced by the two men. The first model was tested in the New Orleans area last fall, he said, and reached a top speed of 32 miles an hour and a range of 120 miles between battery rechargings.

The cost of travel with an electric car would be about 8-10ths of a cent a mile, with battery life expectancy of about 75,000 miles, Swanson said.

Whether Swanson and Aronson will make it to Washington remains to be seen.

The car broke down on a test run Thursday, Swanson said he believed the batteries were too powerful for the motor and a little rewiring would fix it up.

If the experiment is successful, Swanson said, the company plans to adapt about 1,000 cars this year and sell them at around $3,000 each.

Utility companies probably would be interested, he said.

With a high-rate charger, Swanson said, the electrical recharging process takes about two hours. The batteries are of a specially constructed lead acid type.

Swanson said the purpose of the trip—which may be the longest ever undertaken by an electric-powered automobile—was to demonstrate that it could be done.

Red Terms For Start Of Talks Are Confirmed

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — In a meeting arranged with help from Soviet and French ambassadors, a mission from Hanoi has given U. Thant North Vietnam's terms for starting peace talks, diplomatic sources say.

The U.N. secretary-general confirmed today that he had met in Rangoon this week with a top North Vietnamese representative but declined to give any details. He said he would make a statement about the meeting on his departure from Rangoon later today.

The diplomatic sources said Friday Hanoi's two principal conditions were immediate suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalation of the U.S. military effort in Vietnam.

Message From Ho The sources described the message as Ho's final and irrevocable terms.

The first official report of the meeting came Friday night from Gen. Le Tung Sun, North Vietnamese consul-general. He said Thant had met with Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission and leader of the North Vietnamese mission. Sources close to Thant said he felt the disclosure was premature and could hurt his efforts for peace.

But, French Envoyed The conference, the first of its kind between Thant and top North Vietnamese representatives from Hanoi, came about after diplomatic moves said to have involved Soviet Ambassador Alexei Rodionov and French Ambassador Rene Philippe Yves Millet.

Thant said earlier in the week both sides in the war held "less rigid" attitudes toward peace talks than they had a year ago. Before today, he had said he was in his native Burma only for a week's vacation.

Caracas Blames Castroites For Slaying Official

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan Cabinet met in emergency session early today, hours after the body of former social security chief Julio Iribarren Borges was found in a slaying linked to Castroite terrorists.

The ministers who gathered in President Raul Leon's home at midnight were believed considering whether to suspend constitutional guarantees again in an effort to help capture the killers and prevent more terrorism.

Constitutional rights which were suspended Dec. 13 after a surge of terrorism chiefly against American-owned businesses were restored Thursday.

During the 11-week period, police were empowered to arrest suspects without warrants, hold them indefinitely without bail and enter suspected terrorist hideouts without court permission.

Iribarren Borges, brother of Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren Borges, lost popularity among businessmen this year when he ordered social security taxes increased.

Covering the body when it was found by police six miles outside Caracas were pamphlets of the Armed Forces of National Liberation — FALN — a pro-Castro paramilitary group. They said three public figures would be assassinated for every FALN member killed and "three other political figures are on our list."

Mead Marks 5th Year Of Earnings Increase

Mead Corp.'s annual report, an attractive 40-page booklet on Mead papers printed in color, reports a fifth year of rising earnings and general optimism about 1967 operations and profits in all departments.

President George H. Pringle and Board Chairman H. E. Whitaker in their joint report state that last year's sales were $663 million, an increase over 1965 of 11 per cent, and that total earnings were $27 million, up from $23 million the year before. For the fifth year earnings per common share rose, for 1966 to $4.17, which was 17 per cent above 1965.

Stable prices, strong demand and improving efficiencies in both new and old mills contributed to Mead's profits, which were not helped by a 10-week strike at its Gilbert Paper Co., mill in Menasha, Wis., and start-up expenses at its new Canadian pulping operations.

New Facilities
"We enter 1967 in excellent conditions," said the executives. "Backlogs are substantial. Our long range plans are starting to bear fruit. New facilities are coming on line. Organization restructuring and marketing orientation are proving out in practice."

"We expect to chalk up on going gains in sales and growth in new markets."

Mead serves 16 markets. One is served by Mead Pulp Sales, a worldwide pulp and secondary fiber distribution organization, and the other 15 have been distributed by relationship of resources and products into four major marketing groups — paper and related products (in which Escanaba Division of Mead's mill at Groves operates), paperboard and related products, paper distribution, and educational products. Each group is headed by a group vice president and a pattern of decentralization under the group vice presidents now dominates the Mead organization.

The year in the paper group

NORTHWOOD PULP LTD. is the newest source of bleached kraft pulp for customers of Mead Corp. from its mill in Prince George, British Columbia. The firm is jointly owned by Mead and Noranda Mines, Ltd., and Mead Sales sells the total production of Northwood around the world. Here a car of spruce chips is emptied in one golden cascade. The mill is in the rear.

was highlighted by start-up of a new No. 3 machine at Mead's Kingsport, Tenn., mill, adding 15 per cent more white paper capacity. The Leominster, Mass., mill was closed "for many reasons — location, site limitations, stream and air pollution requirements among them — we felt we could not economically modernize the mill to compete successfully in the years ahead."

A new plant to house the eastern printing operations of Mead is rising beside the paper mill in South Lee, Mass., reflecting the closer organizational relationship between papermaking and printing. It will be in full production in autumn when the last equipment is transferred the 50 miles from the old Holyoke, Mass., plant by Mead Technical Papers.

Gilbert Paper Co., rebuilt one of its three machines in 1966 to produce very high quality, durable papers for business and communication, based on the use of cotton fibers.

New Group
Mead has completed first year of operation of its Belgian paper firm, Papeteries de Virginal, acquired early last year. The paper machine has been rebuilt and can make half again as much paper as before.

Educational Products is a new group for Mead, formed around Westab, Inc., which merged with the corporation last May and now operates as a wholly owned subsidiary.

Specially relevant to Mead's future is development of a strong resource of cellulose through woodland ownership and lease, forest management and supplier relationships. An additional 315,000 acres, mostly in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and with the rest in Kentucky, South Carolina and Georgia, were brought into support of the Mead paper producing facilities last year.

An indication of growing wood resource was reported by foresters of Georgia Kraft, a Mead affiliate that 24 per cent more wood is standing today within the procurement areas of its two Georgia mills than when the mills were built in 1948 and 1954.

Mineral Lands In Menominee Bid In By Hanna

The Hanna Mining Co. of Cleveland was the successful bidder on 580 acres of state-owned mineral lands in northern Menominee County for iron ore leasing.

Bids totaling $11 from Hanna were accepted at a public auction in Lansing for the lease rights, representing $1 each for 11 parcels of land. The state would be paid a royalty on any minerals removed in commercial development of the resources.

Before becoming final, the lease sale must be approved by the Michigan Conservation Commission at its meeting in Lansing next week.

Hanna operates the Groveland Mine near Randville in Dickinson County, where it has one of the Upper Peninsula's large open pit mines, beneficiation mills and pelletizing plants. The Groveland Mine was originally an underground mine, but failed as such, was idle for many years and then was reopened by Hanna as open pit operation.

The Groveland Mine is the westernmost iron mine on the Menominee Iron Range and the westernmost in the Upper Peninsula. Mining has been done as far east as Waukegan, but the mining on the range, except for the Randville operation north of Iron Mountain is concentrated in the Iron River-Stambaugh Mineral Hills district 30 miles to the west.

The eastern end of the Menominee Range in which Hanna has bid in the mineral lands of the state for leasing, has been extensively explored for iron by diamond drilling and magnetometer examination for anomalies.

Thus far there has been no mineral development in northern Menominee County, but geologists have looked for extensions of the mineral range there.

The present period is one of the most active in many years in exploration for both copper and iron in the Upper Peninsula.

Gift Of State Lands Proposed

Rep. D. J. Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) has introduced a bill in the Legislature calling for the transfer without cost of 5,000 acres of state-owned land from the Michigan Department of Conservation within the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore to the U.S. Department of Interior.

"There should be no question whatsoever about the passage of this bill — the 5,000 acres of state-owned land is a small item compared to the tremendous value of such a national park to the Upper Peninsula," said Jacobetti. He said state lands within the proposed park area have, for the most part, been dormant and undeveloped.

The Conservation Commission favors donating about 5,000 acres of state-owned land in the Grand Marais-Munising area to form part of the proposed federal lakeshore.

Credit Card Thefts Alarm

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce reports that theft and illegal use of credit cards had mushroomed into a $20 to $30 million-a-year racket.

Walter Lewke, manager, said recent arrest of 17 men in New York on charges stemming from the theft of credit cards points up a growing problem plaguing business and the public.

The National Better Business Bureau reports that about 140 million credit cards have been issued by oil companies, department stores, airlines, credit card companies and others and an estimated 1.5 million are reported lost or stolen each year.

NBBB says a black market in "hot" credit cards flourishes from coast to coast and noted that there is some evidence that organized crime has moved into the theft of cards used to buy airline tickets, which are then sold at discounts.

If fraudulent use is made of a stolen credit card, the rightful owner of the card is generally responsible for all items charged unless he had previously notified the issuer of the card that it had been lost or stolen.

One credit card company now protects its cardholders against liability after the first $100 and some insurance firms are writing low-cost policies that cover losses up to $1,000.

To combat credit card fraud, NBBB advised cardholders to: Promptly notify the issuer of loss. Telephone or wire and then follow up with a letter.

Never lend your credit card and make sure it is returned after each purchase.

Destroy out-of-date cards and unsolicited cards received in the mail that you don't intend to use.

Nixon Denied Polish Visa

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who departs Sunday on a three-week fact-finding visit to seven European capitals, says he has been denied a visa by the Polish government to visit Warsaw.

Nixon announced Friday that the visa denial was "unexplained."

"I regret the precipitate... action of the Polish government in denying me a visa," he said in a statement.

"When I visited Warsaw in 1959 in my capacity as vice president, the reception of the Polish people was spontaneous, overwhelmingly enthusiastic and truly heart-warming."

The Polish Embassy in Washington declined comment.

Neighbors Sign Petitions For Lion Heave-Ho

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The neighborhood lion has become too much of a tiger to suit residents of San Francisco's Richmond district.

Signatures are being collected on petitions to give the heave-ho to Tagore, the pet lion of self-proclaimed sorcerer Anton Szandor LaVey, who performed a Satanic wedding recently.

Tagore, 3 years old, has grown to 500 pounds and has a meow with muscles. Also, the neighbors complain, he is unsanitary and leaves big bones strewn around the LaVey backyard.

Police say there is no ordinance against lions in San Francisco. One can't keep a horse, cow, calf, swine, sheep, goat, rabbit, mule, pigeon, goose or duck in the house. But lions are all right.

"We couldn't proceed against an elephant, either," said a city attorney.

Goudreau Directs MUCC Activities In Wildlife Week

LANSING (AP) — James Goudreau of Detroit, a former president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, will direct the MUCC program Michigan Wildlife Week March 19-25. Theme of the observance this year will be the need for more public lands for outdoor recreation.

MARINE PVT. Randall S. Carlson, son of Mrs. Esther Carlson, 1805 8th Ave. S., Escanaba, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif., Marine Corps Base. He will now receive at least four weeks of specialist training before being assigned to his first permanent unit.

Senators Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's senators split on a vote to amend Wednesday's $4.5-billion Vietnam military spending bill. Democrat Philip A. Hart voted with the majority of 72 to amend the bill to promise full support for troops and efforts toward a peaceful settlement. Republican Robert Griffin and 18 others voted against the amendment.

Surplus Waters Diversion Can 'Save' America

"The greatest engineering project ever attempted by man" may be required to keep the American civilization from thirsting to death, a Utah civil engineer told a Michigan State University conference recently. It will take 100 years lead-time, 30 years work by 130,000 men, and an expenditure of $100 billion to divert surplus waters from Alaska, the Yukon Territory, British Columbia and the Hudson Bay area to meet the water needs of the Western United States, the Great Lakes Region and Northern Mexico, according to George D. Clyde, consulting engineer and former governor of the state of Utah.

But it will take more than that—human relations, interstate and international cooperation of heroic proportions, Clyde told engineers from the United States and Canada.

Clyde said that the physical requirements for the gigantic diversion project are already set down in a proposed North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA) project.

"Disaster" Possible
NAWAPA provides a system of dams, reservoirs, tunnels, canals and pumping stations to move water from Alaska and Northern Canada into a natural trench in the Rocky Mountains and to redistribute it as far south as Mexico and east to the Great Lakes. Hudson Bay water, too, would be diverted in the project, which would create immense power reserves and new channels of navigation, he reported.

Garden Peninsula

A parent-teacher meeting will be held at the cathedral building at 8 p. m. Monday, for all parents of the St. John's and St. Peter's Parish. Sister Stephanie will give instructions on how parents can help children to understand Holy Week and Lent and make religion relevant in their living today. There will also be a discussion period with Father Joseph Callari. All parents are urged to attend.

Mrs. Evelyn Tatrow is in Washington, D. C. to visit her son Robert Luzon who was wounded in Viet Nam and is now a patient in Walter Reed Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and family of Milwaukee, Wis. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Milton Farley of Fairport.

About Paying For Spying

Good Words For The CIA

By LEON DENNEN
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A Congressional hearing on the Central Intelligence Agency's subsidies to student, labor and intellectual groups is now unavoidable — but not, let us hope, a witch hunt by self-styled liberals.

A fair and impartial investigation could clear up many myths and mysteries about the CIA which, despite some serious errors, defended successfully and valiantly American interests in critical areas and at a critical time.

The trouble with the loud professional liberals, who see the CIA as a "sinister" force in American life, is that they want to eat their cake and have it, too.

When the House Un-American Activities Committee attempts to throw some light on the subversive activities of pro-Communist groups, the liberals are quick to denounce the whole thing as dangerous witch hunting.

But baiting the CIA, in their view, is good for the country. It is justified witch hunting, as they see it.

Lefty And Keeky
The editors of Ramparts, the journal of the "new" San Francisco leftist kookism, have long ago discovered that it is good business to print sensational revelations about the CIA. It boosts the circulation of a publication that would otherwise have died in obscurity.

To be sure, they are not just ordinary capitalists interested in making a fast buck. They obviously have other reasons for printing their frequent exposes of the CIA.

Times' Contribution
They are against the war in Vietnam and this gives them an opportunity to discredit the Johnson administration a bit more among the academic know-nothings. They also, it seems, want to make it impossible for American student, labor and intellectual opinion to compete with Communist propaganda at international meetings.

Why the New York Times,

EUGENE GROVES, left, and Sam Brown of the National Student Association are two young men who made news recently when it was revealed that NSA has been receiving secret financial support from the Central Intelligence Agency.

among others, should print Ramparts' revelations on its front page and give them a sustained drumfire of national publicity is indeed one of the unexplained mysteries of our time. The disclosures have long been known to informed people of all shades of the political spectrum, including Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The CIA activities are now looked upon with horror by the champions of student rowdiness and hooliganism on the West Coast. But they received their greatest impetus and support when John F. Kennedy was president. They originated with President Truman.

Not long ago the New York Times had already printed a series of articles on the same issue — the CIA support of American intellectual opinion abroad. It implicated distinguished literary publications and personalities like Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former Ambassador George Kennan and the editors of the British magazine, Encounter.

Anti-Johnson
Schlesinger and Kennan knew how to counteract the snide attacks, which seemed to imply that anyone who co-operated with the CIA had become a sinister CIA agent.

Unfortunately, some of the leaders of the National Student Association, brainwashed by "liberal" propaganda, have been convinced that nothing that the Johnson administration does abroad is vital and meaningful to the United States and the free world.

Instead of fighting back, they are ready to cry mea culpa — as if they have been convicted of some unforgivable sin.

All they did was to present their views as spokesmen of the American way of life. If they did more, if they also gathered valuable information that helped to alert the United States against the Communists — the American people owe them a debt of gratitude.

It may well turn out when all the facts are available that — at the level of student, labor and intellectual activity — not enough was done to counteract Marxism-Leninism as an international conspiracy.

Mrs. Vic Lough Killed In Crash Near Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Mrs. Vic Lough, 59, of Green Bay was one of two persons killed early Friday morning in the head-on crash of two cars on U. S. 41-141 about eight miles north of Green Bay.

Also killed was Marvin D. Gorman, 20, of Green Bay.

Mrs. Lough's husband formerly owned the Escanaba Taxi Co. and currently operates Vic Lough's Bar in Green Bay. Police said she was apparently en route to a cottage at Oconto where she and her husband have been living while he recuperates from a heart ailment.

Her body was taken to the MacQueen Funeral Home in Oconto where services have been set for 2 p. m. Monday.

Drug Count Jails College Freshman

PORT HURON (AP) — Jerold Liederman, 21, of Toronto, Ont., freshman at Port Huron Junior College, has pleaded guilty to a possession of narcotics charge involving marijuana.

Authorities said they expect to make further arrests in connection with the case. Source of the marijuana is believed to be either New York or Toronto, police said.

Liederman was remanded in the St. Clair County jail, pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Revolt, Last Resort Of Social Protest, Says Federal Judge

ANN ARBOR (AP) — U.S. Circuit Judge John R. Brown said Friday that he sees no alternative to revolt when other means of social protest fail.

Brown, judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, was one of three speakers in a "law and public order" panel discussion at the University of Michigan's sesquicentennial celebration.

"When there is revolt like the one in Watts in Los Angeles, however, there is a breakdown in the public faith in law and order," he said.

Brown described himself as a "constitutionalist" and a firm believer in law and order.

His circuit includes Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and the Canal Zone.

Revolt as a last resort does not mean, he said, that a group is given "the right to take the law into its own hands."

"That doesn't lead to progress," Brown said.

Opposes Violence
Dr. Richard A. Wasserstrom, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Tuskegee Institute, said that after the riot at Watts Negroes there had been provided with more goods and services.

"I am strongly against violence also," Dr. Wasserstrom said. "I'm saying that there's something wrong with society that makes it necessary for a man to break a window to get a toaster."

The other speaker, Robert Taylor Jr., a Negro, said the courts had failed to keep up with social change. Taylor was appointed by President Johnson to the board of directors of the Export-Import Bank in Washington in 1965.

Must Continue Talks
He said "the courts alone cannot handle the demands of social change but we must continue to talk about these things and make our opinions known where it will count the most."

Dr. Wasserstrom said he thinks the Negro is entitled to "opt out of the system."

"We have succeeded in eliminating many laws that overly discriminate against him but we have failed to eliminate or even to reduce substantially the systematic injustices in the administration of justice," he said.

He criticized what he termed "institutionalized injustice" and a legal system that is different from what it claims to be.

Cites "Double-Standard"
If a person is poor and a Negro, he has much greater chance than a middle-class white of being denied liberty before trial, adequate or serious counsel, valuable investigative assistance, a jury of his peers, a suspended sentence and an understanding, forgiving judge, he said.

Dr. Wasserstrom also criticized the federal government for tolerating a "double standard" and "lawlessness, impropriety and evasion" in respect to enforcing antidiscrimination laws.

"A systematic and vicious kind of hypocrisy is at work," he said. "Our government simply does not pursue or encourage the enforcement of federal law relating to civil rights with one half or one fourth the zeal with which it pursues violators of the laws relating to narcotics."

Brown, Dr. Wasserstrom and Taylor are graduates of the University of Michigan. About 300 persons heard their talks.

Nephew Of Local Man Is Presumed Dead In Vietnam

Capt. Roy Kubley, U. S. Air Force, a nephew of Arthur Kubley of 1113 1st Ave. N., Escanaba, was shot down and his plane destroyed in Vietnam and his body has not been recovered, the family has been advised by the military.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kubley of Glidden, Wis., was 35 years old and was unmarried.

Capt. Kubley was pilot of a plane employed in "defoliating" work close to the ground over enemy territory when it was shot down with its crew of three men on Jan. 31.

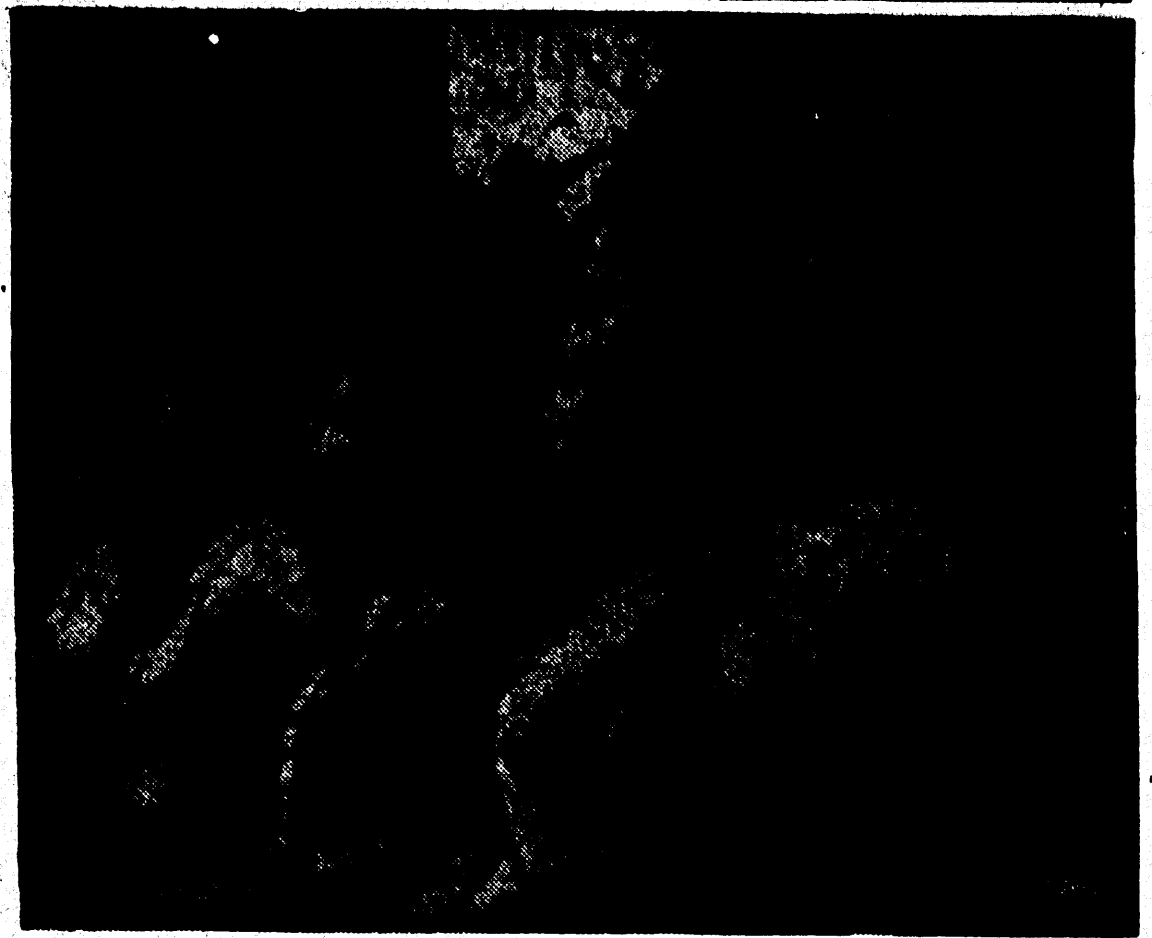

Memorial services will be held in Glidden and in Vietnam.

Training

Three law training sessions for 170 non-law employees representing parks, forestry, game, fish and geology, will be held at Newberry on March 7, at Marquette on March 8, and at Barrage on March 9, by the Department of Conservation.

Potato Growers Invited To March 8 Iron Mt. Meet

Potato growers in the central part of the Upper Peninsula will have the opportunity to get the latest information on potato production at Potato Institute to be held by Michigan State University potato specialists at the Iron Mountain Courthouse, Wednesday, March 8.

The meeting will get underway at 10:30 a. m. EST, (Delta County time) and will end at 8:30 p. m. Potato growers from Iron, Marquette, Dickinson, Menominee and Delta counties are invited.

Dr. Richard Chase will discuss new cultural practices based on research, new varieties, seed production and irrigation management. Soil fertility and maximum yields will be reviewed by Don Thurlow, soils specialist.

Planning and designing grading rooms and storage handling equipment will be covered by Quentin Ostrander, a marketing agent.

Those Darned Newsmen

America, and especially Michigan because one of its most famed citizens is involved, is getting a lesson in modern communications that is fascinating and somewhat disturbing.

And to Gov. George Romney it must at times seem to be devastating because he is Patient No. 1.

George Romney wants to be President and he's running hard in the early stages of his campaign before formal announcement. This is a very difficult role, complex, demanding and exhausting beyond the average non-political person's comprehension, and Romney has been doing well at it so far.

Candidacy is a ceremonial that puts the candidate in the interest focus of virtually the whole world. It inspects his origins, his every action from childhood, his public life and his private life and then it gets out the microscope and examines what he is doing now, minutely.

All the writers tell what sort of man they think Romney is. If the reader examines enough of the opinions he gets the impression that they are not all writing about the same man or that some of them must be wrong. The candidate must cope with this mincer as best he can and Romney is currently making merit marks and getting his lumps in this process.

To be seriously considered for this greatest office in the world, a man must be known. Romney is widely known from his success in saving the foundering American Motors Corp. with the compact Rambler and as governor of Michigan, but he is also circulating to let the nation see him. The process is double-edged, of course; he learns in the process as well as his audiences.

The Governor's recent tour west brought the press into close quarters with him. The New York Times' man found him "a formidable presidential candidate in some respects and a very vulnerable one in others." He was judged most successful as a handsome leader testifying for good government through vigor, valor and honesty. Least impressive when "either unwilling or unable to document broad charges at news conferences about the war in Vietnam, the issue upon which any candidate may rise or fall in 1968."

It must have occurred to George Romney by now and hopefully it will occur to the public that the American people really don't want a candidate for the presidency who has a fixed policy on how to win the war and who is peddling it at every whistletop. It is inconceivable, with the election nearly two years away, that any candidate with such an announced program would have any staying power.

Romney, of course, does not have a nicely packaged foreign policy to use in the White House; he's not a foreign policy expert and he's learning. He said on his western trip that a Republican president wouldn't be boxed in the way President Johnson is in the Vietnam war; that he would not be as committed to our policies there as their author and so would be freer to change positions and end the war.

Romney's failure to be specific in his general criticism of President Johnson's conduct of the war brought him an immediate request for chapter and verse and he said "you're trying to push me, and I won't be pushed." At the next stop he said he'd already discussed Vietnam at four news conferences on the trip and that that was it.

The nation wants to know what Romney thinks of the war and how it might be ended, of course, but it is more important at this point that he conduct himself like a good prospect for President than as an instant expert on the specifics of peacemaking.

Paradoxically, Romney is an actionist type, and seldom without suggestion for solutions. He faces here a problem that our combined national talents haven't been able to solve yet and fortunately he is mindful that that same press that might twig him for not being specific about failures in Vietnam would be quick to say that if he had hurt the U. S. war effort by any suggestion that, if he were elected, things would be different. That could cost the lives of a lot of American boys.

Romney, at this time, should keep as much cool as possible; the game is only beginning.

Latin Reds Curbed

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Lessons on preventing future Vietnam show up in the success and failure of U. S.-aided civic action projects in Latin America.

These are programs in which the local army, navy and air force help with school, road, health station and well building, set up youth camps for poor children and perform other deeds for local communities. In most Latin countries the U. S. government has given modest amounts of money.

These inexpensive aid experiments—if successful—can become practical tools for blocking the growth of Communist insurgencies. If guerrilla wars can be nipped in the bud, there will be fewer heavy-scale Vietnams.

Take Colombia as one example. At least 100,000 full-time and seven part-time U. S. military men were assigned to civic action. They worked with 2,500 Colombian officers and men.

In one project the Colombian army assigned seven engineer companies to the building of two gravel all-weather highways that crossed areas of violence.

The result: Small trading centers have sprung up along the highways. Farmers can get their goods to market. The people's standard of living has risen. The new roads mean peace and troops can get to the trouble areas more quickly. There's more protection. Thus some of the causes of dissatisfaction have been removed and the job of handling the insurgents made easier.

In another civic action program, the Colombian army, navy and air force have been operating 32 camps for boys aged 13 to 16 from poor families in areas threatened by violence.

One American military man worked on this part-time. Some 140 Colombian military men have been participating. Local teachers volunteered help. Local merchants contributed money. Farmers in these troubled areas have started to report guerrilla movements to the officials.

Whatever the country, such programs have often been successful when the government has come in with do-it-yourself and we'll-help-you projects when and where insurgency is struggling for a toehold. The programs usually have flopped in areas where insurgents are well-entrenched.

Some projects have faced a bad reaction. The Guayama-Ribera road in Bolivia a five-year project, reportedly caused ill feeling between the military and the local population because work progressed so slowly. It is understood that inordinate delays were caused by the rapid turnover of officers and key NCOs.

In some countries, teams of soldiers move in for a day or a few days of real help, then move on. This causes complaints. The people had gained hope when help came. They left let down when the help left. This won friends for the insurgency.

The answer is that so far we aren't experts on what it takes precisely to stop cold incipient insurgencies. These projects are excellent as pilot programs. Hopefully, we'll gradually learn what succeeds and what fails, then adopt the ideas that work.

GAS

This will acknowledge receipt of a copy of an editorial that appeared in Feb. 20, 1967, issue of the Escanaba Daily Press. The editorial concerns the proposed designated Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co.

The applications of Great Lakes along with those of two other supporting natural gas pipelines, namely, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. and Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. which constitute the Great Lakes project, were consolidated for formal hearing with a competitive project proposed by Northern Natural Gas Co., and others. Before either project can become viable, issuance of specific authorizations from the Canadian Government for the export and import of natural gas are necessary. Approximately 35 parties were permitted to intervene in the proceeding.

Formal hearings commenced on April 19, 1966, and were concluded on June 23, 1966. Initial briefs were then filed by the applicants on July 25, 1966. Answering briefs were filed by all parties by Aug. 28, 1966. However, on Aug. 25, 1966, the Canadian Government announced its refusal to grant the necessary licenses. The presiding examiner then certified the record to the commission for the latter's determination as to whether the matters presented in the applications were moot.

Subsequently the Canadian Government reversed its position mentioned above and granted the necessary licenses on Oct. 4, 1966, based on some new agreements and undertakings given by Trans-Canada and Great Lakes to that government. The commission, in order to be able to arrive at an informed conclusion as to whether the Great Lakes characteristics originally presented to it had been altered, wrote to the letter on Oct. 13, 1966, requesting that it submit copies of all representations made to the Canadian Government. Great Lakes' full compliance with that request occurred on Dec. 2, 1966.

With the documentary submissions before the commission, staff counsel in the case and others urged dismissal of the Great Lakes applications on the ground that their project had changed from that originally proposed. Proponents of the Great Lakes project countered that the project had not changed and that in any event these were matters to be properly decided by the presiding examiner. On Dec. 23, 1966, the commission thereupon, on Dec. 23, 1966, remanded the proceeding to the examiner for his determination as to whether the project had been altered and to what extent, if any, the proceeding should be reopened.

After the examiner (1) convened a formal conference on Jan. 24, 1967, (2) determined that the proceeding should be

Leontyne Price Victim Of Jewel Thieves At Met

NEW YORK (AP) — Burglars made off with $75,000 worth of Leontyne Price's furs, jewelry and concert gowns Thursday night while she was singing "Aida" at the Metropolitan Opera.

When the prima donna arrived at her town house in Greenwich Village early today she found her housekeeper trussed up.

The housekeeper, Lour Schumacher, told police the doorbell rang about 10 p.m. and a man said through the door that he had flowers to deliver.

She told him to leave them at the door. Some minutes later she opened the door to get the flowers, and found two men still waiting there, their faces hidden behind masks made of stockings.

She said they grabbed her, forced her inside, tied her hands behind her back and left her lying on the living room floor while they ransacked a second floor bedroom.

They took five fur coats, diamond rings, a bracelet, diamond studded pins and several concert gowns.

We finish our discussion of plays against ten spots with a standard safety play which has appeared in many bridge books and in every bridge column, including this one.

It will be well-known to many readers but we feel that there are enough people who don't know this play to justify repetition.

South is able to account for all the aces and kings by his use of Blackwood but settles for six in view of the possibility that his partner won't hold both the king and queen of spades. North is tempted to bid seven anyway because he has solid diamonds but North recalls that he has opened the bidding and given a jump raise, so North also settles for the small slam.

If South is alert, he makes the slam by the simple expedient of playing his ace of trumps at trick two. East shows out but this doesn't worry South in the slightest. He leads a second trump through West and holds West to one trick.

If South is a careless player, he leads a trump to dummy's king. Later South complains about bad luck because he isn't going to make his slam.

Playing at six, the king of spades is totally incorrect. The ace play insures the contract. The king play costs it any time West holds all the trumps.

Ann Landers

Turn Yourself Off, Girl, Forget Him

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 12-year-old girl who needs somebody to stick up for me. I hope it will be you. My brother Roy is six years old. He is so mean nobody can tell what he will do next.

When President Kennedy was killed I made a scrap book of all the things I could find about him. I kept it up to date and everyone said it was a very wonderful book. I say WAS because Roy ripped the book to pieces yesterday. When I came home from school and saw what he had done, I was so mad I cried. Mom said she will punish Roy at the right time. Well, I know she will never punish him because she has never punished him yet. He gets away with murder around here.

Nothing will put my book back together again so there is no point in crying anymore, but I wish you would say something in your column about kids who do terrible things and nobody does anything about it. Thank you. — SISTER WHO IS STILL CRYING

Dear Sister: While you are at it, shed a few tears for Roy, because he is the one who will be the big loser. Children who grow up without discipline are a problem to society, their families and themselves. Reform schools and prisons are filled with people who did as they pleased and did not have to account for themselves.

I hope you will show this column to your mother. She needs to have her eyes opened.

Dear Ann Landers: I met a fellow on campus a few weeks ago who really turned me on. We didn't talk much, but there was a certain electricity between us, if you know what I mean.

We went out for coffee a couple of times and everything seemed to click. Then all of a sudden like he dropped off the face of the earth. I didn't hear a word from him. Yesterday one of his close friends told me that I am the spitting image of the girl he used to go with. She died in an accident two years ago. Can this be the reason he has dropped me? Should I try to talk it out with him?

TURNED ON

Dear On: If this is the reason, he has an emotional problem. But it's HIS problem not yours. If he has simply lost interest, you will gain nothing by doing the bloodhound bit. Turn yourself off and forget him.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't for the life of me understand why common ordinary housewives write to you and criticize your advice.

People ask for your opinion because they have faith in you. I am sure most people who write have read your writing for years and they feel you can help them. It always burns me up when some dumb bunny from Boise or Yonkers or Dubuque writes in and thinks her ideas are better than yours. Please print this letter and tell them their two-bit views don't mean anything and to save the stamp. — R. K.

Dear R. K.: Here's your letter but I don't agree with you. I have learned a lot from those "dumb bunnies" from Boise and Yonkers and Dubuque. I hope they never stop writing.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hat's They'll Do It Every Time

Rolling Stones: Favorite Pastime Of Rockhounds

THE BAY DE NOC Gem and Mineral Club has a membership of all ages. But they have one thing in common: They're all interested in collecting stones that can be cut and polished. Pictured (above) is Charles Bowen of the Club cutting a stone in a demonstration held recently at the Area Public Senior High School. The Club was organized about two years ago with Tom Hughson as its president. (Daily Press Photos)

ROLLING STONES gather no moss in this operation demonstrated at the Gem and Mineral Club meeting, which is viewed (from left) by Howard Witt and Mrs. Leonard Nelson. The machine rolls the rocks and gives them a polish that brings out their hidden beauty. Besides the processing of the stones, the Gem and Mineral Club members collect specimens that give them a knowledge of the geology of the region. Besides the family and adult members, the Club has junior members who are sponsored by interested adults. Lectures and programs are a part of the activity.

PUTTING THE finishing polish on a specimen puts a final luster on the stone and prepares it for display. Observing the operation are (from left) John Lasnoski and Fred Fisher. Both were among the founders of the Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club and Fisher is the present vice president of the organization. The polished stones, some of gemlike quality, are put on display or mounted into attractive settings for rings, necklaces and other ornamental and decorative uses.

John Johnson Taken By Death

John Johnson, 84, of 1320 N. 19th St. died at the family home at 8:30 p. m. Friday. He was born Feb. 16, 1883 in Finland and had resided in Escanaba for the past 63 years. He had been employed as a top dock worker for the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad until his retirement in 1952.

Surviving are, his widow, Lena; a daughter, Mrs. Axel (Ina) Erickson of Escanaba; two sons, Harry of Detroit and Ragnar of Escanaba. Ten grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren also survive.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p. m. Sunday and complete funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home at 11 a. m. Monday with Rev. Karl J. Hammar officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Census statistics reveal that more than half of the present U. S. population is less than 30 years old.

Drastic Fishing Curbs Proposed For Sylvania

Highly restrictive fishing regulations are being recommended for Sylvania, the federal government's new recreation area in Gogebic County.

The 18,000-acre exclusive private club with its many lakes and ponds was purchased from private owners last year by the U. S. Forest Service to be developed as a public recreation tract within the Ottawa National Forest.

The Forest Service requested the Michigan Conservation Department to establish fishing regulations for Sylvania's lakes, which had been privately stocked.

Department biologists recommend that an order closing the lakes to fishing be lifted on April 28 and that public fishing be permitted thereafter on Sylvania's lakes with certain stringent rules.

The rules will be reviewed and acted on by the Michigan Conservation Commission when it meets next week in Lansing.

Although the Sylvania lakes now contain an uncommonly high percentage of large game fish—bass, walleyes and lake trout—biologists fear the stock may be rapidly depleted under public fishing conditions because the lakes are basically infertile.

"The delicately balanced fish populations in the 32 Sylvania lakes are simple combinations of species which can be drastically changed through very little sport fishing harvest," biologists said. "To maintain the unique quality of the fishery but allow recreational fishing, unusually restrictive regulations need to be imposed to limit the number of fish taken by anglers."

Under terms of the recommended regulations, trophy fishing for game fish will be allowed on some lakes with high size limits and low creel limits. Fishing for panfish without any size limit will be permitted on other lakes. And on some waters all fish that are caught will have to be returned to the water as soon as possible.

Recommendations call for the following size limits: Smallmouth and largemouth bass, 18 inches (10 inches is the minimum elsewhere in the state); lake trout, 30 inches (no size limit elsewhere); walleyes, 20 inches (13 inches), and northern pike, 30 inches (20 inches).

Daily possession limits on bass, northern and walleyes in Sylvania waters would be two singly or in combination, whereas the regular limit is five. The lake trout limit also would be two, the same as in other inland waters.

An important recommendation restricts all fishing to artificial lures, banning all live, dead or preserved bait or organic food substance.

Peninsula Potpourri

HOUGHTON—The Keweenaw Playhouse Guild, Houghton, has hired Fletcher Johnston of Oak Park, Ill., as its first executive director through a $7,500 grant from the Michigan State Council for the Arts. The non-profit guild sponsors summer theater productions in the old Calumet Opera House.

MENOMINEE—Menominee and Iron Mountain have been paired to exchange mayors during Michigan Week, but they may not exchange after all. Menominee Mayor Edward Reindl said that Menominee and Iron Mountain are similar cities and more would be gained if the communities could be paired with other communities in lower Michigan.

IRON MOUNTAIN—The Postmaster General's "citation for excellence" will be presented to the Iron Mountain post office for outstanding maintenance and care of its offices.

CALUMET—River Run Ski Hill, the Upper Peninsula's newest ski recreation area, is open for business. Facilities include a 1,000 foot run, a single tow and a chalet. The area was developed by Russ Lepisto. The area is about eight miles from Calumet.

SAULT STE. MARIE—The first section of the planned 26-mile U.S. Forest Service scenic route along Lake Superior should be under construction next summer. The stretch will run a little over two miles in the Naomikong Point area. The 26-mile route when completed, will connect a point just west of Brimley with M-123 south of Emerson.

L'ANSE—A group of officials from the West Branch, Mich., V Manufacturing Corp. have been exploring sites in the L'Anse and Pequaming areas for the possibility of establishing a manufacturing plant for the firm's hopper-trailer type sand and salt spreader.

SAULT STE. MARIE—Upwards of 6,500 deer may die of starvation in the eastern Upper Peninsula this winter, according to Lloyd G. Schemenauer, district game biologist for the Conservation Dept. at Newberry. The biologist said too many deer are hemmed in by heavy snows in areas too small to provide them with enough food to survive the winter. The deer are slowly starving to death and will die unless there is a break in the weather, said Schemenauer.

Water Costs To Rise In Fighting Pollution

The growing emphasis on keeping water clean in Michigan's "water wonderland" is going to put an additional cost on Escanaba residents, City Manager George Harvey reports.

And if Escanaba follows the trend of other communities, the increased costs will be placed on the pocketbooks of all the water users, rather than property owners only, as is the present policy.

Presently the city's wastewater (sewage) treatment plant and sanitary sewer system are financed from city appropriations. These appropriations are in part derived from city taxes paid by property owners.

"In other words, it means that the cost of operating the wastewater plant and the sanitary sewer system is spread on the tax roll," explained Manager Harvey.

"For many years it has been recommended by the wastewater department that the system be changed from an appropriation department to that of a city utility where revenues from users of the utility would pay for its operations," the city manager continued.

"Most of the cities of our size in the state and in the U.P. have been operating wastewater departments as utilities for many years. Some who do are Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie, Calumet and Ishpeming Township."

Presently the city appropriates almost $82,500 to run the wastewater system annually. Since 1957 the city has provided an additional $750,000 for improvements to the system. An additional $200,000 is planned to be expended for collection and pumping facilities.

Let Users Pay
"In the face of future requests and requirements of our citizens we can be sure that unless the system is placed upon a self-supporting basis, money for these needs will have to come from increased taxes from the property owners," Harvey has informed the City Council.

The feeling is that it is more equitable to have all users of the facilities help support the cost of operation, based upon the demand each user places on the system, than to have only the property owners pay for these costs.

CCI Proposes Land Exchanges

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. has applied to exchange 200 acres in Chocoma Township, Marquette County, for 240 acres of state-owned land in Tilden Township to facilitate its iron mining operations. The proposed exchange will be considered by the Michigan Conservation Commission at its March meeting in Lansing next week.

This is the fourth segment in a series of CCI-state exchanges which will allow the company to consolidate its ownership in an area involving long range plans for expansion of its low grade iron ore development, beneficiation and tailings basins operations.

Expansion Plan Changes Urged

MARQUETTE—Marquette's City Commission Friday asked Northern Michigan University to change its campus expansion plan and move west instead of east.

The commission noted that the expansion program, scheduled to start this year, would mean eventual displacement of 500 families or 10 per cent of the city's population, and involve $1,600,000 of assessed property valuation.

The commission urged the school to schedule a joint city-NMU board of control meeting as soon as possible and delay its expansion program one year.

The city also asked NMU to have representatives of Doxidis Associates of Greece, the architectural firm which drew up the campus plan, to meet with property owners involved.

By going west, the university would avoid reaching into the city's heavily populated and prime residential area. It owns considerable property to the west.

Unless the plan can be reversed, Mayor Robert E. Moore, speaking for the commission, said NMU should delay expansion for one year, arrive at purchase prices for each parcel of property, make funds available to those being displaced prior to acquisitions to enable them to search elsewhere for homes, and have NMU share in the cost of utility and street development for displaced property owners.

Sally Jo Therrien, Harold J. Young Wed

Miss Sally Jo Therrien of Escanaba became the bride of Harold Joseph Young of Rte. 1, Gladstone during a ceremony performed Saturday, Feb. 25 at St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Escanaba.

The Rev. Arnold Thompson officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass at 12 noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Therrien, 941 N. 20th St. and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young of Cornell.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Sandy Young of North Carolina and bridesmaids were Miss Sue Therrien of Escanaba, sister of the bride and Mrs. Judy Steinmetz of Lansing, a cousin of the bride.

Pearl De Sole
The bride selected for her wedding, a floor length all white gown of peau de sole fashioned with a fitted bodice and a modified scoop neckline trimmed with re-embroidered alencon lace appliques.

The voluminous skirt was trimmed with matching lace appliques set in a random pattern. A chapel length train was caught at the waist with a self bow.

A crown of pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascading bouquet of white carnations and red sweetheart roses.

The bride's attendants were attired in street length gowns of wine rayon velvet and pink acetate crepe accented with a flower garland encircling the waist. Their headpieces were two tiered crowns of wine colored net and they carried colonial styled bouquets of pink and white carnations with wine ribbon trim.

Flower Girl
Little Brenda Nelson, niece of the bridegroom of Cornell was flower girl and wore a white satin dress with lace applique styled similar to the bride's gown. A satin band headpiece covered with lily-of-the-valley held her shoulder length white net veil and she carried a miniature bouquet of pink and white carnations with wine colored ribbon.

Danny Dubord of Escanaba carried the rings on a satin and nylon pillow.

Bestman for his brother was Norman Young of North Carolina and groomsmen were Robert Steinmetz of Lansing and David Bordeau of Grand Haven. Seating the guests were Richard Baldwin and Butch Young.

Mothers' Attire
For attending her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride selected a deep rose sheath style double knit dress with matching accessories and she was presented a pink and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Young chose a turquoise two piece linen suit with matching accessories and she wore a yellow and white carnation corsage.

The reception was held at the Flat Rock Town Hall from 4 to 8 p.m. followed by a wedding dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The newlyweds will make their home in South Dakota where Mr. Young is presently stationed at Ellsworth AFB.

Puritan Ethic Is Curb On Shoppers

The puritan view that an abundant life is "sinful" and that hard work and thrift are important virtues must be discarded if the United States is to continue to grow, a Michigan State University professor of marketing said at Detroit.

These historical values, Dr. William Lazer said, are based on an economy of scarcity. They have lost their meaning in the United States where automation is providing surpluses, increased leisure, and an opportunity for a life with ease.

"Consumers actually appear to fear the abundant life that we can have, and are basically uncomfortable with this life style," Dr. Lazer said. "To continue economic growth and expansion this feeling of guilt must be overcome."

One of the major difficulties, Dr. Lazer said, is the fact that the United States has reached the stage of affluence without adequate preparation for a shorter work week and a life of plenty.

"Man should not feel that he must be continuously perspiring and suffering to earn a livelihood," Dr. Lazer noted. "We must learn to enjoy an affluent life without guilt feelings."

American consumers, he said, are often guilt ridden and governed by a puritanical philosophy.

"Luxurious, new, convenient products are viewed with suspicion, and are attacked by social critics," according to Dr. Lazer. Housewives do not accept them readily.

A change is occurring in the traditional life style of Americans, however, and marketing will play a key role in this change.

Historically marketing has been a stimulus to production. "The next marketing frontier," Dr. Lazer reported, "may well be an inner one—the

Rapid P.T.C. Will Sponsor Talent Show

Rapid River P.T.C. will sponsor another school talent show this year. Mrs. Frank J. Lundberg was named chairman and she will pick her own committee. This is the third talent show that has been supported by the school's parent organization.

The two previous shows attracted excellent talent acts from the elementary and high schools and have provided an entertaining evening for the Rapid River area. Talent show try-out dates will soon be announced. Monetary prizes will be awarded show winners.

Mrs. Barbara Norlander, representing Rapid River American Legion Auxiliary, presented two American flags for school classrooms. Mrs. Charles Doonan, fluoride chairman, announced the deadline enrollment date for the topical fluoride treatments was Friday, March 10. Enrollment cards and fees may be sent to Mrs. Gail Larsen, Route 1, Rapid River.

The evening's guest speaker, Phillip C. Meili, high school guidance counselor, was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Waldon Johnson, Jr.

Room count was won by Mrs. Douglas Wescott's second grade and Mrs. Walter Peters' first grade. Lunch followed the program served by the eighth grade mothers, Mrs. Harold Bjurman, chairman.

DAR Convention Set This Month In Kalamazoo

Over 250 delegates, alternates and guests of the Michigan Daughters of the American Revolution will attend the 68th State Conference to be held in Kalamazoo, Harris Motor Inn, March 14, 15 and 16. Mrs. James V. Zeder, state regent, will preside. Hostess chapters include the Menominee Chapter, Menominee, Mich.

The winners of the Good Citizenship contest for the state of Michigan will be announced during the luncheon at the state conference on March 16. Awards will also be presented at this time.

The Lewis Cass Chapter of Escanaba is sponsoring nine girls from nine high schools of the Upper Peninsula this year. They and their mothers will be honored by the local chapter at a luncheon, at which time Good Citizenship pins will be presented to the girls.

Mrs. John Mitchell is in charge of the Good Citizenship program and she will announce the nine winners and the time and place of the luncheon at an early date.

Renewal Project Halted By Court

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Kalamazoo County Circuit Court Judge Wade Van Valkenburg has continued a restraining order and preliminary injunction forbidding any further program on Kalamazoo's Central Parkway South urban renewal project. A hearing on the matter has been set for April 18. Opponents contend the $15 million project was ordered by the city commission illegally.

At least three Upper Peninsula high schools are competing in district basketball tournaments for the last time this week. Negaunee St. Paul will close its doors at the end of the current school year because of a lack of teaching nuns. Alpha and Mass will be absorbed by consolidation action. All three are Class D schools. Alpha high school students will go to Crystal Falls next year.

The number of Upper Peninsula schools will continue to decrease in future years as further consolidation is effected through the region. In the Escanaba area alone, the schools of Cooks, Garden and Nahma will be consolidated in the near future. Likewise in Iron County where voters have approved consolidation of Stambaugh and Iron River schools.

Wakefield ran its victory string to 18, longest in the school's history, by defeating Bessemer 68-48 in Class C district action this week. The Cardinals were led by 6 foot 5 inch center Al Inkala with 34 points on a dozen field goals and 10 free throws while playing less than three quarters of the game.

Ted Holika, Mass marksmen, boosted his season scoring total to 447 points by hitting 33 as the Rockets ripped Chaswell, 81-41, in a Class D district affair at Houghton.

Terry Conrad, tallest player in the Upper Peninsula this season at 6 feet 9 inches, led Even to a 66-36 decision over Marquette with 25 points. Conrad has tallied 490 points in 19 starts, of which the Bulldogs have lost only one.

Mike Forcarelli, Wakefield High School skiing star, will compete in the North American championship meet in Franconia, New Hampshire, this weekend. The 16 year old sophomore, defending national junior slalom champion, will compete against skiers from France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria in the North American meet and will follow that with entry in the national championship meet at Stowe, Vermont, March 16, 17 and 18.

Mike Skinner, Pickford's Eastern Conference scoring champion, led the Panthers to an easy 86-45 decision over Paradise in district Class D tournament action with 15 points. In another tourney game at Brimley, defending Eastern regional champion DeTour topped the host Brimley Bays, 56-50.

Nahma Arrows Capture Title

MANISTIQUE—Coach Warren Groleau's Nahma Arrows climaxed their long uphill battle from a winless season two years ago by winning the Class D district tournament championship here Friday night.

The Arrows shot down a stubborn Engadine team, 65-57, in the finals, earning the right to advance into regional competition next week at St. Ignace.

Nahma outshot and outscored the Eagles in the tight contest and won it in the two middle periods.

Coach Rod Carlson's Eagles spearheaded a 14-18 edge in the first frame but 6 foot 1 inch sophomore David Feathers zeroed in on the bucket from 20 feet out to spark the Arrows to a 31-26 advantage at the half. Feathers potted five field goals in the first half.

Steve Ritter took over in the second half and Nahma spread its margin to 44-36 entering the final frame.

The tempo of the game stepped up considerably in the last quarter in which both teams tallied 21 points. The Arrows never lost their lead and pumped home nine of 11 free throws in the stretch to ice the victory.

Ritter finished with 17 points to lead four Nahma players in double figures. Feathers had 14, Rick Mercer 13 and Mike Turan 11.

Individual scoring honors for the night went to Engadine's Jack Archie with 22 points while Jim LeGault contributed 18.

In addition to outscoring Engadine by three field goals, 27 to 24, the Arrows converted 11 of 23 chances from the foul line. Engadine made nine of 18 free throws.

The victory was Nahma's 11th in 20 starts this season. Engadine closed the books on the campaign with a 6-12 mark.

Escanaba Athletes Head For Northern

MARQUETTE — Three Upper Peninsula high school athletes, Bob Brisco of Escanaba Holy Name, Dan Scheuren of Escanaba and John Argall of Negaunee, have announced their intentions to enroll at Northern Michigan University.

Brisco, 5' 11" 180-pound captain and most valuable gridder for coach Tom O'Neill at Holy Name last fall, was an All-Upper Peninsula halfback and received all-state honorable mention.

Scheuren, 6' 1" 220-pound lineman for coach Jerry Cvenegros at Escanaba, ranks in the top quarter of his senior class. Also a heavyweight wrestler, he was runner-up in the recent Upper Peninsula high school finals held at NMU.

Argall, 5' 11" 194-pound fullback and linebacker for coach Lodie Morris' Negaunee Miners, won both all-conference and All-Upper Peninsula honors.

Northern Michigan football coach Rollie Dotch said he was "pleased to learn these Upper Peninsula boys plan to attend Northern. We are looking forward to having them on our campus next fall."

L'Anse, Ishpeming District Champions

By The Associated Press

Detroit Northwestern and L'Anse won their district championships Friday night while South Haven and Eben; two more favored teams, try for theirs tonight as the Michigan high school basketball tournament winds up district play.

Detroit Northwestern, top-rated team in Class A, beat Detroit Central 78-66. South Haven, top-ranked in Class B, meets Paw Paw tonight. The defending Class C champion, top-rated L'Anse, crushed Crystal Falls 96-73. Eben, top-ranked in Class D, goes against Ironwood St. Ambrose tonight.

In other top Class A games, Birmingham Groves whipped Birmingham Brother Rice 64-45 and Muskegon Heights trounced Muskegon Catholic 87-45. Both games were for district championships. The defending Class A champion, Ferndale, fell out earlier.

In Class B, Marysville met Marine City tonight while Albion takes on Battle Creek Pennfield. Defending Champion Grand Rapids East Christian trimmed Lowell 73-59.

Leslie plays Williamston tonight in Class C. Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart beat Coleman 98-50 Friday and tries Shepherd tonight for the district crown.

Flint St. Matthew goes against Flint St. Mary tonight in Class D. The defending D champ, Covert, is out of the tournament.

Lamont King scored 26 points and John Mayberry 18 as Detroit Northwestern kept its record undefeated. Mike Rafferty hit for 18 points and Roy Iceberg 15 as Birmingham Groves overcame a slow start and trounced Brother Rice.

Muskegon Heights moved to an 18-1 record as Ralph Houston scored 23 points against Muskegon Catholic.

Ralph Simpson hit for 32 points and Spencer Hayward got 30 as Detroit Parable ran over Detroit Kettering 93-40 for an A district championship. Dan Shinkaberger got 34 points in leading Holland to a 97-73 rout of St. Joseph.

Hamtramck squeaked by Highland Park 66-64 for a Class A district crown. The Parkers tied the game with six seconds left, but Dennis Smock hit a jump shot to win it for Hamtramck. Smock got 18 points, James Smith 23 and Ike Blesett 19 for Hamtramck.

In Class B, Bill Rykes led Grand Rapids East Christian past Lowell with 20 points. Steve Veneklasen and Ron Flitstra added 15 each.

Ron Alcorn of Bay City Jon Glenn turned in one of the outstanding individual performances of the tournament so far, scoring 40 points as Glenn downed Midland Bullock Creek 74-64. Alcorn hit on 16 field goals and eight of nine free throws.

Sports in Brief

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — John Wooden, coach of the top-rated UCLA Bruins, was named College Basketball Coach of the Year Friday by The Associated Press.

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Buchholz ruined Dennis Ralston's United States professional debut, beating him 11-9, 7-5 in the first round of the International Pro Invitation Tennis Tournament.

EDISON, N.J. (AP) — Sam Baca of Hayward, Calif. scored 9,455 points for 40 games to lead the finalists in the Professional Bowlers' Association $50,000 Egothe Open.

KINGFIELD, Maine (AP) — Dennis McCoy of the University of Denver won the downhill event and Ned Gillette of Dartmouth took first in the 15-kilometer cross country race in the National Collegiate Ski Championships at Sugarloaf Mountain.

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois suffered a second setback in its $23,000 slush fund scandal Friday, but ducked through a conference loophole to avert immediate Big Ten punishment.

Big Ten faculty representatives dealt the second blow. The first came Feb. 22 from a jury of conference athletic directors who denied an Illinois bid to retain three coaches involved in illegal aid to athletes.

Like the athletic directors, the faculty group went by the rule book, insisting Illinois fire the three coaches or suffer the consequences.

However, Illinois insisted before the faculty representatives that it was only appealing the decision of the athletic directors and not appealing the order to "show cause" why its conference membership should not be suspended or terminated for failure to fire the coaches.

Roby's Knee Given Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The right knee of Frank Robinson — operated on during the off season — was tested Friday when he twisted it while ducking away from a high inside fastball as the world champion Baltimore Orioles took batting practice.

The Baltimore outfielder, winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player Award last season, hit the dirt and got up rubbing the knee.

He rubbed it again when he got to the outfield but finished the day's workout before leaving as his hour later.

Cardinals was removed from Robinson's knee during the banquet circuit. The knee was the lone question mark on a $100,000 contract signed by Robinson earlier this year.

Northern Wins Final Game In Cage Campaign

MARQUETTE (AP) — Northern Michigan put in six points in the final minute of play to whip Illinois State 97-83 in college basketball Friday night. Illinois State came back 44-41 after trailing 59-38 at the half. With one minute to play it was 81-80, but Northern turned on the steam.

The victory ended the season for Northern, which has 29 straight home court wins. Steve Aronoff led scoring with 28 for Illinois State. Bonnie Jacobson and Les Odeh each had 23 for Northern.

Illinois Ordered Again To Fire Coaches Or Drop From Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois suffered a second setback in its $23,000 slush fund scandal Friday, but ducked through a conference loophole to avert immediate Big Ten punishment.

Big Ten faculty representatives dealt the second blow. The first came Feb. 22 from a jury of conference athletic directors who denied an Illinois bid to retain three coaches involved in illegal aid to athletes.

Esky Bantams Lose Puck Tilt

The Escanaba Bantam All Star hockey team was defeated 13-0 by a smooth skating Marquette team here this week.

Russ Brumm led the Marquette sextet with five goals and an assist. Bill Rodon and Dick Goodney both turned in hat trick scoring performances and Randy Fagberg tallied twice for the visitors.

Escanaba goalie John Strom kicked out 42 Marquette shots. Other Escanaba players seeing action were Dennis Eastman, Bruce Irving, Dennis Lancour, Karl Hannula, Robert Stone, Gary Provo, Lennie Smith, Robert Sebeck, Michael Anthony, John Pratt, Mark Irving and David Anthony.

ROCK — The Rock Little

Giants learned Friday night that lightning can strike twice in the same place.

Upset in their final game of the season by the Perkins Yellowjackets, 58-54 in overtime, the Little Giants were stunned again last night in the semifinals of the Class D district tournament, 54-43.

Thus the team that upset favored Trenary was sidelined by a team that won only seven games in the regular season and finished eighth in the final Central League standings, one spot out of the basement.

Perkins will take on Perkins tonight at 8 for the right to advance to the regional tournament at St. Ignace next week.

Coach Verne Nelson's Jackets made highly favored Rock play their game.

The Yellowjackets played a deliberate style, making every move count. They never took a shot unless they were almost certain of either making it or getting the rebound.

By controlling the action from the outset, Perkins moved into an early lead and came out of the first quarter with an 11-7 edge. That set the stage for the remainder of the game. Rock was forced to go for the ball and Perkins took advantage of repeated personal fouls to pump in a steady stream of free throws.

Narrow To Three

The Jackets took their half-time break with a 27-15 edge and held of a determined Rock comeback in the third frame in which the Little Giants narrowed the deficit to three points several times. Perkins led 43-36 entering the final quarter.

The picture didn't change in the fourth frame as Rock tried in vain to catch up. Perkins tossed in only one field goal in the period but canned nine free throws to outscore Rock by an 11-7 margin.

After hitting 10 field goals in the first half, Perkins added only four in the second half but the Yellowjackets hit the target on 19 of 24 attempts from the free throw line in the last two periods.

For the game, Perkins capitalized on 26 of 39 opportunities from the line to go with 14 field goals coming from 33 shots. Rock outscored Perkins by five field goals, hitting 19 of 47 from the floor. But the Little Giants cashed in on only five of 10 from the line.

Larry Lippens, Rock's dead-eye senior, was limited to seven points, his lowest output of the season. He had four personal fouls in the first half and had to keep a long way away from the action for the remainder of the game. Lippens closed out his final season of competition with 420 points in 20 games.

Art VanDamme was the throtle man for the Perkins Machine, scoring 22 points. He tossed in six field goals and tallied on 10 of 12 shots from the charity stripe. Mark Deputyd and Gary Simonsen also reached double figures, teaming up for 21 points. Top scorer for Coach Gene DeKeyser's Little Giants was John LaCasse with 14.

Perkins will carry an 8-11 record into tonight's title tilt against Rapid River. Rock finished the campaign with a 15-5 mark.

Coach Bill McGovern's Rapid River Rockets gained revenge for two regular season losses to Eben, 57-49 and 52-51.

After a slow start in which the first field goal wasn't scored until 3:45 remained in the opening period, Rapid took a 9-7 lead and held on for a 24-23 edge at the half.

The Rockets found the range for 20 points in the third quarter as Gene Bezi and Greg Viau canned three field goals apiece.

Viau Hits 25

With a 44-33 lead entering the final quarter, the Rockets doubled Eben's scoring effort in the stretch to win going away.

Viau took scoring honors with 25 points and Bezi chipped in 13 for the Rockets. Leading Coach Jim Jacobson's Eagles was Jim Lehtomaki with a dozen points.

Rapid River carries a 9-10 record into tonight's championship game against Perkins.

Hoosiers Near Swimming Title

EAST LANSING (AP)—Indiana took only one first place Friday night, compared with three for Michigan State and two for Michigan, but the Hoosiers still are almost assured a seventh straight Big Ten swimming championship.

Team depth and a system of scoring 12 places helped account for the Hoosier swimming success story. Worldwide recruiting also helped, said Indiana Coach Jim Counsellman who attracts his stars from as far away as Australia.

Going into tonight's final of the three-day meet, Indiana held a commanding lead of 277 points, with seven of 18 events remaining.

Michigan was second with 260 points and MSU was in the battle for runnerup honors, with 198 points.

Other team scoring: Minnesota 113, Wisconsin 94, Ohio State 75, Illinois 66, Purdue 48, Northwestern 44, Iowa 28.

"We keep trying to cut them up between us," said Michigan State Coach Charles McAffree of the combined MSU-U of M effort to upset the long-time champs. "But we can't hack into them hard enough."

Indiana's Ken Webb set NCAA and Big Ten times by winning the 400-yard individual medley in 4:12.72. The former NCAA record was 4:16.4 by Dick McGeath of Southern California in 1964. The old Big Ten best was 4:17.3 by Webb last year.

Bruins Run Win Streak To 24; St. Joe Stunned

By The Associated Press

The top-ranked, unbeaten UCLA Bruins won their 24th straight, but it was the LaSalle Explorers who grabbed the headlines in college basketball Friday night.

LaSalle, whose coach, Joe Heyer, was hung in effigy earlier in the week by some of the student body, stunned the St. Joseph's Hawks 73-70 in the first round of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship tournament in Philadelphia. UCLA walloped Stanford on the road 75-47.

LaSalle, beaten only last Sunday by the Hawks 96-83, got into the MAC playoffs because its poor 13-11 record still was better than some of the other MAC clubs.

Led by Larry Cannon, who scored 22 points, the Explorers went on a 19-3 spurt in the second half that erased an 11-point deficit and gave them the lead at 69-64. The Hawks rallied to within 71-70, but a long pass from Joe Markmann to Chuck

Storm sewed it up for LaSalle when Storm scored. LaSalle plays Temple tonight for the MAC crown and the right to play St. John's of New York in the NCAA tourney at Blacksburg, Va. next Saturday. Temple routed American University 83-61 in the other MAC game.

Low Alcinder, the Player of the Year, helped celebrate the naming of his coach, Johnny Wooden, as Coach of the Year by The Associated Press, with 20 points on seven field goals in 11 shots and six of nine free throws.

UCLA, which now has only two games to go for a perfect regular season mark before the NCAA tournament, led at the half 32-13 and had little trouble against Stanford's partial stall and zone defense.

University of Pacific, with a 20-3 record, won its 17th in a row by whipping San Jose State on the road 75-64 and clinched at least a tie for the WCAC crown. The Tigers can win their second straight conference title and an automatic NCAA-tournament berth by beating UCal, Santa Barbara, tonight.

West Virginia and Davidson also battle tonight for an NCAA berth in the final of the Southern Conference championship tournament at Charlotte, N.C. Davidson whipped William and Mary 78-65 and West Virginia downed Richmond 82-70 in the semifinals Friday.

Brigham Young crushed Arizona State 110-83 at Provo, Utah, behind Kari Laimo's 28 points and tied Wyoming for first place in the WAC. A play-off might be necessary if BYU beats Arizona and Wyoming defeats New Mexico tonight. New Mexico, 18-6, out of the running for the WAC title was named Friday as the 12th team for the NIT post-season tournament in New York.

Alex Howell sank four clutch free throws in overtime to give Auburn a 99-96 victory over Alabama at Montgomery, Ala. Bruce Steckel's 12-footer at the buzzer gave California a 77-75 squeaker over Southern California at Berkeley.

Rick Robertson scored nine points in an extra period to lead Cincinnati over Xavier, the Bearcats' crosstown rival, 79-69. Utah trounced Arizona 88-72 at Salt Lake City, Utah and Colorado State University edged the Air Force 62-60 at Colorado Springs.

The North Carolina A&T Aggies scored a major upset among the small colleges. They ended the 25-game winning streak of the previously unbeaten Winston-Salem State Rams 105-82 in the semifinals of the CIAA tournament at Greensboro, N.C.

Spartans Put Seven Matmen Into Finals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michigan State and Michigan led eight other teams behind as they waged a runaway battle for the Big Ten wrestling championship.

Of 18 total qualifiers for today's finals, the two schools had 13—Michigan State 7 and Michigan 6.

Michigan State had a 75-64 point lead over Michigan following Friday night's semifinals. The final outcome rests with the finals in which wrestlers from the two schools were pitted against each other in four matches.

Minnesota, with 28, and Ohio State, with 25, were in third and fourth places. Following them were Wisconsin with 19, Northwestern 18, Indiana 16, Illinois 7, Iowa 6 and Purdue 6.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Victory String May Be Broken

NEW YORK (AP) — Long jumper Del Benjamin appears to be Manhattan College's only hope to remain on the gold standard for the 17th straight year.

For 16 years now, Manhattan has won at least one first-place medal in the indoor ICA — A track and field championships. Benjamin, returning to form after a month's layoff because of a leg injury, would have to come through with an upset to make it 17.

Last week, Benjamin jumped 23-5 1/2 outdoors and Manhattan Coach Jim McHugh hopes another week of recuperation and the warm climate of Madison Square Garden may spur him out beyond 24 feet.

Favored to win the event is Cal Hill, Yale fullback, who has gone 24-6 1/4 this year, or Ed Marks of Maryland, the defending champion, who went 24-10 1/4 last year.

Villanova is the overwhelming favorite to win the meet and Coach Jim Elliott's complaints of late injuries to some of his charges is doing nothing to change the betting.

Dave Patrick, whose 3:50.3 is the only sub-4 minute mile of the year, is a cinch to win that event and will be back for a leg on the two-mile relay team that could also win.

Erv Hall is a prohibitive choice to win the 60-yard high hurdles, now that Dave Hemery of Boston University is out with a muscle pull.

WHOOOPS says New England College's Peter Bowes. Pete got a flag in his face when his ski caught in the gate during this slalom run.

Texan Sets New Record

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Bob Beamon still has trouble believing he owns the American indoor long jump record and came within just one-half inch of returning the world record from Russia.

"I've fouled a lot and I was afraid I had fouled this time," the lanky Texas Western freshman from New York said of his 26-foot 11 1/2-inch leap at Friday night's opening session of the Amateur Athletic Union's national championships, which conclude tonight.

"When I heard them announce that distance, I couldn't believe it. I haven't been working much on the long jump lately, more on the triple jump. Hereafter I'll work more on the long jump," the 20-year-old declared.

Ralph Boston, the veteran Olympian and outdoor champion, held the American indoor mark at 26-6 1/4 since 1961 and made a valiant effort to regain it with a leap of 26-7 1/2 but took only second place.

Defending champion Norm Tate finished tenth. In both the 60-yard dash for men and the same race for women, the defending champions proved victorious wearing the same shoes.

Wyomia Tyus of Tennessee State won the women's race in 6.7 seconds, two-tenths off her world indoor record and Billy Gaines, the high school star from Mullica Hill, N.J., beat the other men in 6.0 seconds although second place Jim Hines and the next two finishers also were given that same clocking.

Gaines borrowed Wyomia's shoes, size 7 1/2, because he didn't feel he got proper traction with his short spikes and wanted longer ones. From third in the semifinals, he went on to win after changing footwear.

Seattle's Doris Brown won the mile handily in 4:43.3 despite being hit by photographers eager to get her picture in action. She had aimed at lowering her world record of 4:40.4.

"I was hit three times by photographers but it really didn't make any difference," said the gal who set her own pace all the way before the disappointing crowd of 5,624 in Oakland's sparkling new Coliseum Arena.

Bob Seagren of Southern California established a meet record of 17-1 1/4 in the pole vault and then raised the bar to 17-7, the highest he's ever tried indoors. He missed on three tries.

John Rambo of Long Beach won the high jump by clearing 7-1 while defending champion John Thomas of Boston could claim only fourth on a 7-0 effort.

Big Ten Indoor Track Meet At Madison Today

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The big four of indoor track in the Big Ten — Michigan State, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan — were primed today for battle for the conference's team championship.

The four have dominated the meet since 1958. MSU is favored to win its second straight crown and led qualifiers in Friday night's preliminaries by taking eight places.

The Spartans were topped by defending champion Gene Washington in record-matching performances in both hurdles. He duplicated his own marks with :08.3 in the highs and :07.7 in the lows.

One championship was decided. Sophomore Ralph Marinello of Ohio State took the long jump with 23 feet 3 1/2 inches compared to the 25-7 record. It gave the Buckeyes five points in the team race. Wisconsin's Glenn Dick and Terry Fancer were second and fourth, respectively, to give the Badgers' a six-point working base.

Michigan State picked up three points on Don Crawford's third place.

Iowa's Mike Mondane, with- held from the 600, paced the 440 trials with :48.0, best clocking of the season. Another defending titlist, Michigan's Jim Mercer in the 1,000, was not entered. He has a bad knee.

Other leading qualifiers for the finals included Doug Conquest, Purdue, with 2:14.7 in the 1,000; John Spain, MSU, and Ron Kutschinski, Michigan, each with 1:54.0 in the 800; Tom Erickson, Wisconsin, with 1:11.8 in the 600, and Aquine Jackson, Wisconsin, with :30.7 in the 300.

Peggy Fleming Solid Choice To Win Crown

VIENNA (AP) — The 1967 World Figure Skating Championships end tonight with the women's free skating finale, and pretty Peggy Fleming is rated a cinch to give the United States its only gold medal here.

Peggy, an 18-year-old college freshman from Colorado Springs, Colo., piled up a 70-point lead in the compulsory figures. Experts say she is now unbeatable.

The big question is who will finish second, Canada's Valerie Jones or East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert.

Miss Jones has a slim 10-point lead over the German girl, who finished second last year and is a strong free skater.

Vienna couldn't have been happier at Friday night's results as hometowners Emmerich Danzer and Wolfgang Schwarz finished 1-2 in the men's competition.

Gary Visconti, the 21-year-old U.S. champion from Detroit, moved up from 25th place after the compulsories to third place — and this despite a fall during his free skating.

The Danzer-Schwarz-Visconti finish was just the way things turned out last year at the championships in Davos, Switzerland.

Mrs. Jane Sullivan, the American judge who has been a target of criticism and boos since the competition opened, because of her low scoring, had another rough time Friday night.

She was booed when her name was announced as one of the nine judges. And she was booed again and again during the competition.

She had the lowest scores for six of the 20 men skaters, including champion Danzer and runner-up Schwarz. She also gave Allen the lowest marks he received.

John Shoemaker, president of the U.S. Figure Skating Association, defended Mrs. Sullivan. "She has an outstanding record" he said, "otherwise she wouldn't be here."

Bark River-Harris School Has Problem

By JEAN WORTH

The Bark River-Harris School District is an example of the difficulties that face a rural school system in the Upper Peninsula in modernizing and keeping abreast of educational change.

Its board of education faces budgeting for a new year with the thought that if it could hold the line on teachers' salaries it could get by the income in prospect from local property taxes and from state aid.

But there is no prospect that there will not be teacher demands for more pay. Already there are reports from other places in the U. P. of teacher requests for much higher salary schedules for the 1987-88 year. They include at several asking $7,000 minimum starting pay. The Michigan Education Association is pushing for a $7,000 minimum for all teachers.

Salary Schedule

Bark River-Harris pays beginning teachers with a bachelor degree $5,200 and has a top of $7,895 reached by 12 yearly salary steps. It is a bit under Escanaba Area School District, which pays $5,350 minimum, but higher than Powers-Spalding, Hermansville, Stephenson and Menominee.

Supt. Richard Hendra of the Bark River-Harris District resigned in October to join the State Department of Education and President Carl Ahlin of the Board of Education, a railway postal clerk, is acting superintendent. Ahlin is one of the Upper Peninsula's most dedicated friends of education. He was a leader in the long effort that created the new Bark River-Harris elementary school after 8 elections in 7 years.

Ahlin and his colleagues of the school board face the frustrations of public school administration under constantly rising costs which are not related to constantly increasing income. "I figured it out last year," said Ahlin "and I told the teachers that if we granted all their demands we would have to levy 33 more mills.

Price Cut Helps American Motors February Sales

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said Friday its February sales were up over January, but still below sales of February 1986.

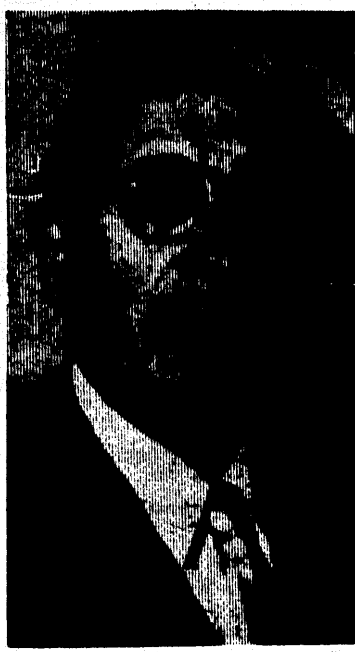

The firm reported 17,332 cars sold in February, up 3,224 from January but still 7,502 below sales in February a year earlier.

The spurt from January to February sales of this year were attributed by the company to a surge in the Rambler American line, which last week underwent a price cut averaging $200 per car.

"The 8,127 sales in the final February period were the highest of any 10-day period of the calendar year, even though there were fewer sales days," said Thomas Coupe, AMC automotive sales vice president.

He said sales of Rambler Americans have climbed to 37 per cent since the price was cut $154 to $234 on Feb. 21. The American model line made up 23 per cent of AMC's total deliveries in January.

There were only 4,000 whites in Washington when the territory was formed.

salaries moving up, but there are limits to what we can pay.

"We are now levying 3.5 mills extra voted for operation, 7.5 mills allocated from the 15 mill property tax, and 8.2 mills for debt service, a total of 19.2 mills. That's about average for the U. P., I'd say, but I think we're going to lose our accreditation this year. We have been on probation for a year and the inspectors will be back in April and we just couldn't make enough of the improvements that they asked with the money that we have available."

The district has an enrollment of 688 students, about evenly divided between the two townships, but Harris, with a few less students is almost twice as big as Bark River in area, which totals 180 square miles. The district has a tax valuation of slightly over $4 million, but that's only $5,832 per child and it is one of the lowest of all the school districts in Michigan.

Indian Students
Ten per cent of the enrollment comes from the Hannahville Indian Reservation, which has no tax value, and while the district gets federal aid for the Indians it isn't enough to bear the cost of their schooling.

The district is one of forests and farm, with no large industries. About 20 per cent of its workers are employed in Escanaba and these are the top breadwinners. Ahlin made a survey two years ago which found that 40 per cent of the workers had incomes of less than $2,000 a year. Most were part time woods workers.

The district has had a population increase which has been reflected in school enrollments, but when Holy Name High School was opened in Escanaba it took away 90 students from the 725 then enrolled and when the number had built back to more than 700 again it lost 80 students to Powers-Spalding District by annexation from Harris Township.

Merger Is Desirable
"In the last few years we've been building back again," said Ahlin. "If it were not for our losses to other districts we should be close to 900 by now. Of course that is the goal of 2,000 enrolled in every K-12 district, but that sort of enrollment is very difficult to reach in a rural Upper Peninsula situation like ours."

What is the prospect for Bark River-Harris? It is a two township district straddling the Delta-Menominee county line and it has an obsolete high school in Bark River and a modern elementary school which is two miles west of Bark River, one mile inside Harris Township.

The elementary school was built in 1959 at a cost of $500,000 and is being paid for far ahead of the 29-year bond retirement schedule. The debt is $430,000 in principal, but the district has bought back $38,000 of the bonds and pays itself the interest earnings and is three years ahead of the payment schedule.

Escanaba 1st Choice
Bark River-Harris should get bigger to be better. It asked to join the Escanaba Area District after earlier declining to participate in its creation. Escanaba Area declined.

Ahlin said that the Bark River-Harris board doesn't regard merger with another district as a dead duck, and thinks it's probably inevitable. It would rather go to Escanaba than to Powers-Spalding because the P-S valuation is not much higher than its own and a building program would be required.

"Escanaba is our best bet, but we can see Escanaba's problems, too," said Ahlin. "So we'd like to hold for the time being, to provide our children with better schooling and to work for some sort of permanent arrangement. In this process we'd like whatever we do now to keep as much value as possible."

High School Plan
"That's why we're screening architects for a minimal high school building and getting estimates of what we could build for $300,000. We'd like to keep it down to that and have a facility that we could use as a junior high school on the 40 acre elementary school campus if we make a high school arrangement elsewhere later on."

"We would use the present school's gymnasium, multi-purpose room, music room, kitchen, etc., for the high school. It seems the best thing we can do for the time being, but we don't know if the State Department of Education will approve it."

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Shirley Norton, Gladys DeGroot, Angeline Rosenthal, Joseph Korenchik, and Donald McCurdy.

Discharged were Dale McCullough, Eva Salter, George LaBash, William Anthony and Alfred Rushford.

Hits Teachers; Quits School

DEARBORN (AP) — Daniel Godfrey, son of a teacher, quit school Friday after being arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault against two other teachers.

Godfrey, 17, a senior at Edsel Ford High School, was charged with hitting two teachers during a basketball game Tuesday night at Dearborn High School. He is the son of Matthew Godfrey, a biology teacher at Lowrey School. Young Godfrey stood mute at his arraignment, bond was set at $500 and a hearing was scheduled for next Friday.

From 1850 to 1912, Washington, D. C. was used as the prime meridian in the United States.
